Dynamic Evacuation and Lockdown Procedures

Dynamic Evacuation and Lockdown Procedures

Purpose

This policy is to enable staff to recognise and report suspicious activity, and to understand what action should be taken in the unlikely event of such an incident.

Actions to be taken in the Event of a Terrorist Threat or Attack

Suspicious Mail or Deliveries

Staff should be aware of any post that they receive in to the school. Deliveries could be explosive, incendiary, chemical, biological or radiological.

If a suspicious parcel is found or received it should be reported to the Bursar immediately. The room should be evacuated immediately, followed by full school evacuation. The staff who reported the item should stay on site and make themselves available to the Police or Army.

Suspicious Items

You are best placed to identify an item which is 'not right'. If you think an item is suspicious don't just dismiss it. In the result that a suspicious item is found in any school building the person finding the item must immediately contact the Head Teacher, who will inform the Bursar. If the item is found in a classroom the teacher should evacuate the children, immediately and send a 'runner' to the school office. The item must not be touched.

Phones in the surrounding area must immediately be placed onto flight mode and a distance of 20 metres should be cordoned off around the item. If possible the person finding the item should photograph the item.

Try and note the following details:

What is it? Size? Components, Description?

Where is it? Exact location. Can you draw a map? Is it marked?

When was it found? Has anyone moved or touched it?

Why do you think it's suspicious? Are there any potential targets?

Who are the witnesses? Keep them available

The Head Teacher or Bursar will decide the best course of action. If required, the fire alarm will be sounded by setting off the nearest call point and the building evacuated. Children and staff will be guided away from the suspect item. The police will be called and will need to speak to the staff member who found the item. You must make yourself available. The Head Teacher or Bursar will be on hand to guide police or army to the location of the item.

The School gates will be closed until the police arrive.

In the case of an extended evacuation the children will be housed in the Lodge. If the parcel is found in the Lodge or the Juniors, the children and staff will be housed in the Main Building. If in the Main Building, the children and staff will be taken to the Lodge.

Search Plan

If required, the school will be searched by the following personnel. Each area must be searched by two people working together. By separating the areas, the search can be conducted more quickly and by staff who know the building very well.

 Insist others come with you, but do not stay behind if they refuse.
 Leave all belongings behind.

Lockdown - Getting the message out:

If and when the school can, the Secretary must ring all members of staff or send out an email to all staff explaining that the school is in Lockdown and the area which is affected. Any staff off site must stay off site. Do not return to school. Trips should not return but should find follow the procedures below.

If possible we will advise staff what to do but all staff need to be prepared to act alone and to make the necessary decisions for their own and pupils safety.

If you are off site during an attack

You will be informed and advised whether it is safe or not to return to school. If not, you must find a safe place and remain to look after all pupils in your care. Staff off site without any pupils in their care should wait for further information. Depending on the extent of the threat please be advised that you may not be able to return to site. You will need to consider your options in advance and have a plan for yourself. The school will not be able to advise you in this circumstance.

If you are involved in a terrorist attack while on a school trip

Before departing on any trip a full list of all pupils involved must be left with the School Office. Contact the school and explain what has happened, where, who is safe and who is unaccounted for. You must follow any instructions issued to you by the Police or Army.

After Effects

The priority after any incident will be to get the school back up and running, and the restoration of normal school life as soon as possible. However, Queen Anne's School acknowledges that not all injuries will be physical and will work to make sure that all pupils and staff are fully supported. All information given to the press and other outside bodies will be managed by the Head Teacher and Bursar.
